OUR POLICIES

Through our policies and our Employee Policy Handbook, we communicate our values and expectations, setting a high bar for ourselves and our suppliers, making clear we do not tolerate modern slavery. We seek to address and eliminate forced labor and child labor in the supply chain by adhering to legal standards, conducting due diligence, maintaining transparency through monitoring and reporting, protecting whistleblowers, and continuously improving our supply chain practices in line with international standards. These measures collectively work to ensure these forms of labor exploitation are properly addressed within TigerTel’s supply chain. We regularly review our policies to identify areas for improvement, a process supported by engaging with external stakeholders and benchmarking against evolving international human rights standards.

TigerTel strives to ensure that all individuals are treated with dignity and respect; that fundamental human freedoms are protected; and that those who violate TigerTel’s policies are held accountable. Our policies demonstrate our commitment to respecting fundamental human rights around the world. We are committed to upholding and enforcing these rights in the workplace.

Our policies apply to all levels of employees and decisions at TigerTel, from major Board decisions to day-to-day business transactions and activities in which TigerTel may be involved. It is also equally applicable to TigerTel’s vendors and contractors. Our policies outline the behaviour we expect from our employees, vendors, clients, contractors, and officers in the execution of their job and in maintaining TigerTel’s reputation and ethical standards.

Our policies comprehensively address various areas, including, but not limited to:

1. COMPLIANCE WITH LEGAL STANDARDS

All employment with TigerTel is “At-Will” unless otherwise contractually agreed in writing, allowing employees the freedom to leave TigerTel at any time for any or no reason. Our policies commit to adhering to all applicable national and international laws, regulations, and treaties related to human rights, including specific prohibitions on hiring individuals under 18 years of age for positions involving hazardous work, thereby directly addressing child labor concerns.

2. DUE DILIGENCE

Our policies reflect a commitment to due diligence, within our sphere of influence, spanning across our entire supply chain. This involves actively assessing and identifying potential human rights violations, including forced labor and child labor. Our hiring practices include performing background checks and proof of age as well as several reporting mechanisms for our employees to report suspicions of underage labor from our suppliers.

3. TRANSPARENCY

Our policies emphasize the importance of regular monitoring and reporting of human rights performance. This transparent approach allows the organization to detect and address any instances of forced labor or child labor within our supply chain.

4. WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTION

Our policies establish several reporting channels for the disclosure of violations or concerns and underscores a commitment to preventing any fear of retaliation against those making good-faith reports. This encourages employees and stakeholders to report any suspected cases of forced labor or child labor in our supply chain without fear of retaliation.

5. ONGOING IMPROVEMENT

TigerTel's commitment to continuously enhance human rights practices and policies extends to our supply chain. This means actively seeking ways to improve supply chain practices to address and prevent forced labor and child labor.

Our Policies

We are committed to conducting our business in a lawful and ethical manner. Our policies, procedures, training, and communications, ensures that every employee, vendor, client, contractor, officer, and Director is aware of TigerTel's values. All employees receive training during onboarding with regular refresher training thereafter. TigerTel provides various secure and accessible channels with guidelines for reporting concerns and violations. Anyone within or outside of TigerTel can reach out to anyone in their management chain or any member of the Board of Directors of TigerTel with questions about the application of these policies or how to approach difficult workplace situations.

Our operations

We believe there is no risk of modern slavery in our directly employed workforce, as the labor market in Canada and the United States is highly regulated, and the presence of unions who represent employees by negotiating employment conditions.

Our supply chain

Essentially all of our suppliers' operations are based in the country of operation (Canada) and/or the United States; the country of TigerTel's parent company's corporate headquarters. We believe these suppliers have a lower risk of modern slavery occurring in their supply chains, as their operations are Canada and/or United States based, and they are required to comply with the Acts (in Canada) within their own supply chains. To establish an initial baseline understanding, for our first year of modern slavery reporting, we mapped out our key suppliers and service providers. This enabled us to undertake a risk assessment of any modern slavery risks, or potential risks, within our supplier's operations and supply chains. None of our supplies are high-risk suppliers who are either located in or source their goods from high-risk countries.

Steps Taken

Risk Assessment: We regularly assess the risks related to modern slavery within our organization and supply chains. This includes evaluating our suppliers, contractors, and partners all of whom are publicly traded and/or well known, reputable entities operating in the United States or Canada. Given TigerTel's geographical business footprint there is little to no exposure to high-risk countries.

Supplier Due Diligence: We conduct due diligence on our suppliers to ensure they share our commitment to ethical practices. We seek transparency from our suppliers regarding their own efforts to prevent modern slavery.

Employee Training and Awareness: Our employees receive training on recognizing and reporting signs of modern slavery. We encourage an open dialogue within our organization to raise awareness. In our on-premises locations where our staff have interactions with suppliers (i.e. cleaning companies, vending companies, etc.), they have been trained to specifically look for signs of modern slavery and in the proper means to report any suspected activities.

Reporting Mechanism: We have established a confidential reporting mechanism for employees and stakeholders to report any concerns related to modern slavery. Our three methods include two which can be anonymized, a form submission off our website or an email address to send these concerns, or lastly to their line manager.

EDUCATION AND AWARENESS

At TigerTel, we are committed to fostering a culture of awareness and responsibility regarding human rights principles, ethical business practices, and legal obligations among our employees, contractors, and vendors. To ensure a high level of understanding of the risks of modern slavery and human trafficking in our supply chains and our business, we provide training to all employees. All employees are expected to be alert to the risks, however small, in our business and in the wider supply chain and are instructed to report concerns and management are expected to act upon them.
